NKDA Organized Outreach Camps for Property Tax and Mutation

To enhance the city's revenue and promote citizen-centric services, the New Town Kolkata Development Authority (NKDA) is conducting outreach camps dedicated to the collection of property tax and facilitation of mutation processes for residential units of New Town.

By organizing these camps at accessible locations within the city, NKDA aims to:

Expedite the process of long pending property tax arrears by facilitating on-the-spot payment options.

Streamline mutation processes by providing real-time assistance.

Enhance public participation through targeted awareness campaigns.

Decentralize service delivery, thereby reducing congestion at central offices.
